

Unsupervised learning deals with unlabeled data. The goal is to infer the natural structure present within a set of data points. Common techniques include Clustering (like K-Means) and Dimensionality Reduction (like PCA).